WHY SPONSOR LIFECYCLE BUILDING CENTER?

When we collectively organize and work together, we can transform our community.

As a sponsor, you enable Lifecycle Building Center (LBC) to reinvest material and economic wealth directly back into your community. You are also helping Atlanta reduce its solid waste, improving the energy-efficiency of Atlanta's housing stock, educating the public about the benefits of material reuse and providing residents, business and nonprofits with access to low-cost building materials. LBC supports the community in a variety of ways:

An environmentally-responsible material reuse center

- LBC offers quality alternatives to new building products which are made from virgin natural resources
- Reuse center proceeds fund community outreach programs that promote resource efficiency
- Hundreds of people walk through the LBC Retail Reuse Center each month which creates opportunities to share information about you, our Partners and Supporters

Deep savings on building materials

- Community members can purchase materials for 50-85% less than new material costs
- Material donors save on disposal fees and receive a tax receipt
- Nonprofits, schools, community groups and houses of faith can access free materials for their renovation and construction projects, allowing them to direct more dollars toward enacting their mission

Building community by building skills

- Developing individual job skills for our staff and volunteers
- Community members and corporations can participate in volunteer opportunities
- Helping community members develop marketable green job skills through deconstruction training

Connecting with our communities through outreach programs

- Our website and social media outlets receive thousands of visitors each week, and our newsletter is broadcast to over 3,800 readers

Current services include:

- Operation of a 70,000 sq. ft. building material reuse center that sells affordable building materials to the public and donates free materials to nonprofits, schools and houses of faith.
- Deconstruction services, deconstruction training and material reclamation audits of construction and demolition projects.
- Donation pick-up services for useable materials by our staff and trained volunteers.
- Community workshops which empower participants to reuse materials and help homeowners save energy/water, minimize hazardous conditions and improve the durability of their homes.

LBC IMPACT SINCE 2011

- Diverted close to 5.0 million pounds of building materials from landfills
- Donated free building materials to 160 nonprofit organizations
- Saved the community over $2.5 million through discounts on material purchases and free material donations to nonprofits
